

The President's Lecture Series

Berkeley Association of Realtors®

2007 President Arlene Baxter

invites you to a lecture series exploring the styles that contribute to Berkeley's rich architectural heritage.

This series benefits the B.A.R. Youth Arts and Education Fund, providing grants to support local school programs in art, music, dance and special education.

Thursday, May 31: Beyond the Bungalow

Paul Duchscherer, author of numerous books on Arts & Crafts homes, will talk about the variety of styles of mostly larger early 20th century homes that developed in parallel with bungalows, under many of the same influences. Craftsman, Prairie, Swiss Chalet, Foursquare and revival styles will be illustrated, from modest to grand.

Thursday, July 26: Arts & Crafts Houses in the East Bay: Why They're More Art than Craft

Dave Weinstein is the author of "Signature Architects of the San Francisco Bay Area" and a regular contributor to the San Francisco Chronicle. He will discuss under-appreciated architects who put their personal touch on Craftsman-style houses in and around Berkeley, producing work that is sophisticated, playful, livable, and original. The talk focuses on Leola Hall, Ernest Coxhead, Albert Farr, John Hudson Thomas and Carr Jones.

Thursday, September 27: Bungalows: The Ultimate Arts & Crafts Home

Author Jane Powell answers the question "What is a bungalow?", exploring the history of bungalows, their relation to the broader Arts & Crafts Movement, and why they have become popular again in the 21st century.

Lectures begin at 7:30 pm
at The Hillside Club, 2286 Cedar Street
in Berkeley.

Light refreshments and book signing to follow.

General Admission:
$20 per event

Members of B.A.R. or The Hillside Club,
$15 per event

Reservations are requested.

For further information or to reserve your space: call B.A.R. at 510.848.4288 or visit www.berkeleyaor.com/lecture/ to see more information about each lecture.
Credit card payments (VISA/MC) can be taken in person at the B.A.R. office or by fax.

The President's Lecture Series is proudly sponsored by Kevin Eves, Your Wachovia Mortgage Consultant in Berkeley.